“ There's a million memories but there's one thing that stands out most. Her love for the Lord and her family. We talked many nights about what it will be like to walk the streets of gold. I love you my sister now and always.

Since the bible says not to charge interest on loans, I think the Dems should propose a bill that removes all interest on student loans and use this as justification. Make the GOP state out loud repeatedly that the bible can't be used to make policy.
