“ I first met Chris at the Pikeville Public Library where I have worked for the past 21 years.. He was a regular among about 9 boys who came in everyday, and I fell in love with them all. I never had children so I claimed all of them as my own. I was always there to cheer them on or to put them in time out if they gave me too much grief. Chris was a great guy and I kept up with him even after he outgrew me and seldom dropped in anymore. One never forgets the smile and humbleness that he glowed with. He was kind hearted and will be missed by everyone who knew him. Fly high my sweet Chris. Miss Char loves you so much.

“ Chris was the best thing that ever happened to my Emma and her momma. And they were the best thing for him. The universe was in some perfect harmony for awhile when they were together. Things were just as they should be. You were so good to Madison and Emma. I couldn't have asked for better for them. We thought the world of you for how you treated them. We loved you. You loved so whole heartily. You wanted someone else's happiness always over your own. I wish I had been there for you more. Or did something different. Maybe got together more often. Idk. I just am at a loss for words and so heart broken for my girls and your family. I pray you found peace.

“ I had the pleasure of teaching Chris in Primary. He brought such joy into my day for 2 years. Chris had the best disposition. I never saw him say or do anything unkind in the years that I taught him. He will be missed by those who had the chance to get to know this kind soul.

“ I remember Chris as a sweet shy little boy in my daughter class. They were in a play together in high school (The Wizard of Oz, I think). I would give him rides home, as he lived near us. My daughter was always hungry after play practice, so I always had to go through MickeyD. I always fed Chris, too. He always said he wasn't hungry. That didn't matter to me, I don't feed one child and not another. I always told him eat it now or take it home. I will always remember him as that sweet child.
