“ One of my best memories of Cissy was when we all went to Tennessee and we all were sitting on the porch and a raccoon came up and went by her leg well she started screaming because she couldn't see what it was I jump up screaming because I just knew it was a bear because she had jumped up screaming . I was never at Cissy's house that I didn't feel welcome , her house always felt like home she just had that kinda personality she will forever be loved and missed
