“ What a wonderful sister she was so nurturing and caring. Showing me or trying to show me how to behave myself as her little sister. My sister was a very special person, she had to leave school before she graduated but she made up for that with a test to get her high school diploma, not only was she a good person she was very smart and loved to be competitive in word games and all other games. I will miss my big sis and love her forever and pray I'll be good enough to meet her again up in heaven with our mom.
