“ Gail was fun to be around in earlier years yet as time went by and she experienced loved ones passing she became a different type person. I couldn't help but notice and before we had a fairly good sister-in-law relationship. She always acknowledged my children as family and asked about them often. I wasn't with her in the past few years but felt in conversation she had changed and became bitter. Her personality was different but now she's with her son in a better place and all the grief is left behind and the pain is gone. Her troubled soul is at rest and she's become a part of a heavenly family. Also, I can remember she could make her mother laugh when nobody else could do that and make Kelsey smile which wasn't that often. She's now reunited with mother Kelsey too whom she spoke of as missing so much.

“ Many years ago when I was about 10 years old, Gail came to visit all of her Texas relatives. One day one of the kids that my mom was babysitting at the time came in the house to announce their was a snake outside. Gail jumped up ran outside and grabbed a garden hoe and the snake didn't stand a chance. She demolished that little grass snake like she was beating up a Cobra. At the time all of the kids were like OMG, what just happened. I can still remember that moment like it was yesterday and it's been at least 35 years ago. I was a little freaked out at the time but I will always and have always thought about that moment. It will always be one of many funny moments that Aunt Gail was a part of. She always made people laugh and that's what I will cherish and remember most about my aunt Gail. RIP aunt Gail.
