“ Mr. & Mrs. Goble both taught my mother Connie K. Jones Johnson. I also had them both as subs when I was at Virgie. I got to know them both outside school and they was the sweetest people. The love they shared was a inspiration to all who wanted to know what true love was. They was invited to our wedding in April 1991. They gave us advice we have cherished. Thanks to them both for going beyond just teachers but outstanding citizens. We will forever remember them both. Sorry for the family & friends loss of a great woman. May the angels comfort you all and sending prayers.

“ I appreciate Mrs. Goble for being the person she was with her students. She was always smiling and treated us as people, not just students she had to teach. The love she and Mr. Goble shared was evident to anyone around them. She will be missed.

“ She touched so many lives. Our class of 1962 is scattered across the nation. She attended all of our reunions and always remembered our names, and her eyes would show her smile and happiness to see and talk with us. As students, she kept us in line and inspired us with her natural teaching skills. Mrs. Goble showed us kindness and gave us a precious gift by modeling behaviors that would help us achieve and strive to do the best in what ever we chose to do. We will miss her.

“ Mrs. Goble was my freshman homeroom teacher and my English teacher. She really cared about her students. Even after we graduated, she kept up with us. She always came to our class reunions. She remembered me at church and funerals. Jesse Stuart wrote "Good teaching is forever and the teacher is immortal." I am a better person and was a better teacher because of the influence she had on my life.
